Auburn Leaf Scholarship provides a full scholarship for the student to attend The Auburn School for up to nine years. The scholarship provides full tuition remission. Parents remain responsible for all school fees and any additional related service fees, if required for the student. The Scholarships will be awarded to the successful applicants who best display the qualities of an Auburn student including high potential for social and academic growth and leadership. All Auburn Leaf scholarship applicants must complete the full admissions process and be offered a place at The Auburn School in order to be eligible for the scholarship. Although February 1 is the deadline for all materials, we encourage families to begin the Auburn admissions process as soon as possible.

Only new applicants for the academic year are eligible for the scholarship. Scholarships are renewed annually for each year the recipient attends The Auburn School. Renewal is conditioned on (i) the student's continued enrollment at The Auburn School under the terms and conditions of the Enrollment Contract; (ii) that the student remains a member in good standing of The Auburn School student body as determined by the school administration based on guidelines in the Handbook for Students and Families; and (iii) that The Auburn School programs continue to benefit the student. The Auburn School reserves the right to use its sole discretion in determining the number of qualified scholarship recipients merited by the applications received. All award decisions made by the Auburn scholarship committee are final.

Acceptance of the Auburn Leaf Scholarship requires a commitment to volunteer a maximum of 10 volunteer hours per school year to support the Capital Education Scholarship Fund, including communicating with prospective families in support of The Auburn School mission, and acting as an ambassador to welcome new families joining the Auburn community.
